* Non-Degree Program
October 16, 2003 is one of the most historically significant dates in the entire history of the School of Music, for it was on that date that Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Frost announced their generous $33 million commitment to name the Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music. This landmark gift by the Frosts represents the most significant chapter thus far in their ongoing extraordinary dedication to and support of our important work, and is a confluence of shared dreams, vision, commitment, and exceptional philanthropy. The announcement was made to an audience of 700 friends and benefactors on the occasion of the launching of the University of Miami’s $1 billion Momentum capital campaign, the largest in its history. Much more about the Frosts and their naming gift appears subsequently in this issue of SCORE.

The original Momentum Campaign goal of the Frost School of Music was $31 million. I am pleased to report that, as of this writing, approximately $49 million in irrevocable commitments has been achieved. As a result, we have established a new campaign goal of $60 million, to be attained over the next three years. Priorities of the campaign include funding for endowments in support of distinguished professorships, music scholarships, and programmatic initiatives, as well as resources for further new construction and renovation projects.

Construction of the new Marta and Austin Weeks Music Library and Technology Center will be completed in September. This 28,000 square foot facility will make possible the bringing together of all music collections under one roof for the first time in approximately fifty years, as well as housing six technology labs designed to support the work of both specialized programs and the entire music community at UM. This will be the second facility that has been made possible through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Weeks, the other being the L. Austin Weeks Center for Recording and Performance that was completed in 1994.

These are indeed exciting times in the life of the Frost School of Music, as the ensuing pages will further illuminate. One must never forget, however, that the ultimate success and progress of an institution such as ours rests squarely on the shoulders of its faculty. Therein ultimately resides our greatest strength and promise for the future.

As always, deepest thanks to those whose generosity has helped to build and sustain the work of our exceptional school.

William Hipp
Dean
Patricia L. Frost Professor of Music
When the University of Miami kicked off their Momentum Campaign on October 16, 2003 the evening featured Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Frost, whose $33 million gift to the School of Music was announced before an enthusiastic crowd at the UM Convocation Center. In honor of this bequest, the largest ever given to a university-based music school in the U.S., the School of Music was officially renamed the Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music.

The Frosts’ donation will be used to fund program endowments, faculty chairs, student scholarships and facility improvements. Dr. Frost, chairman of the University of Miami’s Board of Trustees, says his and his wife’s support of the arts and of the University is an important, long-standing commitment for both of them.

“The arts play a vital role in the life of a community, and music in particular is a unifying force that transcends age, race, and culture. Miami is our home and Patricia and I wanted to create a legacy that would enhance and sustain the School’s important work.”

The Frosts are well-known throughout the community for their generous philanthropic commitments. Dr. Frost is the founder, chairman and CEO of IVAX Corporation, a Miami-based multinational pharmaceuticals company. Mrs. Frost is a retired educator who was the principal of the prestigious West Laboratory Elementary School, which is adjacent to the University of Miami campus. She currently serves as the chair of the Smithsonian National Board and is a member of the Florida International University Board of Trustees.

“The University has shown the South Florida community its commitment and leadership in the arts by positioning the School of Music as a premier institution where so many young people have studied and performed music,” says Mrs. Frost. “It is truly our joy to be able to repay a small part of our great indebtedness to this community.”

To mark this momentous occasion, the newly-named Frost School celebrated on October 30, 2003 with a formal program and naming announcement, followed by a party for everyone at the School. Maurice Gusman Concert Hall was decorated and classes cancelled so all music students and faculty could join the Frosts, President Shalala, Dean Hipp and additional members of UM’s executive leadership for this special event.

Once the Frosts, President, Provost and Trustees were seated on the Gusman stage, the UM Brass choir and Jerry Peel, Director, began with Canzon A 12 by Giovanni Gabrieli. Dean Hipp then addressed the packed house in Gusman. His remarks were met with numerous standing ovations. President Shalala came to the podium next, and before introducing Dr. and Mrs. Frost, she reminisced about the wonderful times and musical events which have been enjoyed by so many in Gusman Hall. The President then spoke on the high quality of the music education available at UM, and attributed much of the School’s quality and international reputation to the leadership provided by Dean Hipp.
Overwhelmed with the reception and extended standing ovation, the Frosts kept their remarks short, but praised Dean Hipp for his artistic and educational vision. The Dean was clearly moved when he returned to the podium to offer closing remarks.

After the on-stage presentation ended, the UM Brass Choir played the sonata from Die Bankelsanger-lieder, c.1684, which concluded the program. The celebratory atmosphere continued outside Gusman Hall with a huge paella party, and music provided by UM jazz students and members of the Band of the Hour.

Entering his 22nd year at the Frost School of Music, Dean William Hipp reflected on what the gift from Dr. and Mrs. Frost means to UM. “This landmark gift by the Frosts represents the most significant chapter thus far in their ongoing dedication to and support of our important work. This gift is the confluence of shared dreams, vision, commitment and generosity.”

The Frost gift is a major part of the overall fundraising initiative of the School, which includes significant gifts from other generous supporters. The Reverend Marta Weeks, UM Board of Trustees vice chair and chair of the Frost School’s Capital Campaign, said the gift raises the bar and leverages other’s contributions by enhancing their cumulative impact. “This type of investment is transformational in scope. It provides a forward thrust that will carry the School well into the future. The Frost School of Music and the University of Miami are first-class institutions. Now, with the Frost gift, both UM and its school of music can truly be exceptional.”

You can experience the excitement and joy of the Frost School naming celebration and festivities from our website. Visit www.music.miami.edu and click on the Campaign for the Frost School of Music. The Frost Ceremony video icon can bring that very special day right to your computer.

Festival Miami

Twenty-First Gala Season
Festival Miami 2004

The 21st gala season of Festival Miami will be presented from September 25 to October 30, 2004, and feature twenty-eight concerts encompassing a wide variety of artists and programming. Guest artists from South America, Europe and North America, combined with the Frost School’s stellar faculty and major performing ensembles will create a season full of U.S., Florida, and Miami premieres and debuts. Festival Miami 2004 will also mark the first time that concerts are presented in Ft. Lauderdale: the UM Symphony Orchestra and Concert Jazz Band will both perform at the Broward Center for the Performing Arts in two Festival Miami encore performances.

Festival Miami was established in 1984. Its mission is to enrich the cultural life of Southeast Florida by providing a high caliber international music festival at affordable prices for residents and visitors alike. As the Frost School of Music’s premiere outreach program, Festival Miami has become well-known for its tradition of combining three distinct elements in its programming: stellar international guest artists, the School’s widely known artist-faculty and award winning student ensembles, and an educational component that offers a series of open rehearsals, workshops, master classes, lectures, youth programs and free concerts. Festival Miami would not be possible without the generous support of individuals, corporations, and foundations; as well as city, county, and state governmental agencies.

The Stamps Charitable Foundation Distinguished Visitor Series

The Frost School of Music celebrated the second season of the Stamps Family Charitable Foundation Distinguished Visitor Series in 2004. This season’s distinguished visitors included a week-long series of lectures and master classes by Broadway Producer Adam Epstein. At only 28, Epstein won the 2003 Tony Award for the smash hit musical Hairspray. Hairspray was also named Best Musical of 2003 by the Drama Desk, the Outer Critics Circle, the Drama League, and the New York Drama Critics Circle.

Legendary jazz saxophone player Joe Lovano presented a master class and concert with the UM Concert Jazz Band. In 2001, Lovano was the Down Beat Critic’s Poll Winner for “Musician of the Year,” and the Jazz Journalists Association Critic’s Choice Awards Winner, both for “Musician of the Year” and “Jazz Album of the Year” (52nd Street Themes). He received Grammy nominations in 2000, 1997, 1995, and 1994.

Ending the series on a truly high note in May, famed mezzo-soprano Marilyn Horne and arranger and conductor Donald Pippin each gave master classes, then performed together in An American Salute, a concert of great American popular songs. As one of the world’s most popular performers, Ms. Horne sang at the Reagan, Bush, and Clinton White Houses. She was given a Lifetime Achievement Grammy Award in 2001 from the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, and was inducted into the American Classical Music Hall of Fame in 1999.

Donald Pippin is one of Broadway’s most honored conductors. He is the recipient of a Tony Award for Oliver, an Emmy for Broadway Sings Jules Styne, the Drama Desk Award for “consistently outstanding direction and commitment to the theatre” and a gold record award for the original cast album of A Chorus Line.

The 2004-2005 Stamps Series begins September 20th, when presidential historian Dr. Elise Kirk will give a lecture on “American Opera In A New Light; Important political, social and cultural influences that have shaped American Opera into one of the nations most vital and exciting art forms.” Then, on Wednesday, September 22nd, Dr. Kirk presents “Music At the White House; The musical interests of various Presidents and their families, from George Washington to the present, and the performers who have entertained them in the White House.”

In March 2005, Pulitzer Prize winning composer/pianist William Bolcom and mezzo-soprano Joan Morris will present master classes. On March 26, the two will perform together at Gusman Hall. Champions of American popular vocal literature, they have brought this genre to some of the most renowned venues throughout the United States and Europe.

The Stamps Family Distinguished Visitor Series is made possible by a $500,000 gift from Penny and Roe Stamps and the Stamps Family Charitable Foundation.
On March 14, 2004 artists from around the globe gathered at Maurice Gusman Concert Hall for the “Tribute to James Roos: A Musical Celebration,” presented by the University of Miami Frost School of Music in association with local South Florida arts organizations. The event was a salute to Roos for his 31 years of dedicated service to South Florida’s cultural community as the esteemed music critic of the Miami Herald.

Jim’s voice had been silenced by an aggressive cancer, which eventually took his life this past May. Now, the musical community that so valued his contribution is showing its appreciation by creating a legacy that honors him. Proceeds from the concert went to the newly formed James Roos Scholarship fund at the University of Miami Frost School of Music which benefits deserving music students. If you would like to contribute to the scholarship fund, please mail your check to University of Miami Frost School of Music, 1314 Miller Drive, Coral Gables, Florida, 33124. Checks should be made payable to the University of Miami Frost School of Music- James Roos Scholarship Fund.
Doug Bickel was appointed assistant professor in the department of Studio Music and Jazz. He will teach jazz piano and courses in improvisation, and lead several small group ensembles. Bickel received two degrees from the University of Miami, a bachelor’s degree in 1990 and master’s of music in 1992 in Jazz Performance, both cum laude. Prior to coming to the University of Miami, Bickel taught at Florida International University, Volkshochschule Aeltomuenster (Germany), Internationale Musikschule (Munich), Virginia Polytechnic and State University (VA), and most recently was assistant professor of jazz piano at the University of New Orleans (UNO). While at UNO he taught private jazz piano, advanced jazz theory and harmony, jazz piano class, jazz improvisation, and fundamentals of swing. He was also musical director of the Louis Armstrong Quintet and director of the University of New Orleans Concert Jazz Orchestra.

C. David Ragsdale is taking a year’s sabbatical from his doctoral studies in instrumental conducting at the Frost School to serve as Interim Director of the “Band of the Hour” during the 2004-2005 academic year. Ragsdale taught music in the public schools of North Carolina where his bands earned numerous awards in concert and marching festivals across the state and the Southeast. He was twice named teacher of the year and was a finalist for the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Award for Excellence in Teaching in 1997. He taught courses in music methods and band at Winthrop University in South Carolina.

Mr. Ragsdale holds a Bachelor of Music from Appalachian State University (NC) and a Master of Music from Winthrop University (SC). He is a member of the North Carolina Music Educators Association, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, Pi Kappa Lambda, and the National Band Association. Ragsdale resides in Miami with his wife Jennifer.

Vincent (Vince) L. Maggio, adjunct professor in the department of Studio Music and Jazz, retired as a teacher of jazz piano, improvisation, fundamentals of swing, rhythm section, and director of the Bop Brothers, Studio Jazz Orchestra, and many other small group ensembles. During his 33-year tenure at UM, Maggio presented hundreds of clinics and workshops in local, regional, national, and international venues. His former students who have gone on to be solo recording artists include Bruce Hornsby, Cliff Carter, Mark Colby, Gil Goldstein, Chuck Marohnic, Stan Samole, and Monty Alexander. Many others have performed with the jazz orchestras of Woody Herman, Clarke Terry, Maynard Ferguson, Stan Kenton, and Buddy Rich; as well as with Betty Carter, Bruce Hornsby and the Range, Dixie Dregs, Miami Sound Machine, Bob James, and Dizzy Gillespie. Vince studied with Vincent Mircari and Rudolf Ganz at the American Conservatory of Music and was a scholarship student at the Advanced School of Contemporary Music where he studied with the legendary Oscar Peterson. He will be missed.
Felipe Oliveira Joins Staff

Felipe Oliveira joined the Frost School of Music in July as Director of Concert Halls, Operations, and Technology Services. This extensive role means Felipe is involved in everything from concert scheduling and building maintenance to all of the School’s computer and technical infrastructure. With a professional and student staff to assist, Felipe also oversees the website of the School.

A percussionist and Hurricane through and through, Felipe graduated from the University of Miami in 2002 with a Bachelor in Business Administration in International Finance and Marketing and is currently completing a Masters in Education in Sports Administration. Before accepting the position with the Frost School, he worked two years as a member of the facilities staff at the Hecht Athletic Center and four years in facility operations at the Wellness Center. Felipe is thrilled to take on the new challenges the Frost School offers.

“I felt I was ready for the next step in my career development in facility and operations management. I love the University so much, and when the position became available at the Frost School of Music, it seemed like a perfect fit!”

Catherine Tanner Comes Home

Catherine Tanner was appointed Director of Admission and Recruitment and joined the Frost School in January 2004. Catherine received a Bachelor of Music with a major in Music Therapy from UM in 1975, and went on to earn her Master of Arts from the University of Central Florida (UCF). A former teacher at the elementary, junior and senior high levels, Catherine returns to the University of Miami after a long career as an adjunct professor and college coordinator at UCF.

David Alt served as a national panelist for the finals of the National Foundation for Advancement in the Arts. The one-week competition was held this January in Miami, and Alt offered master classes and adjudication to ten classical singers from across the U.S.

Alt lectured or presented master classes this year at the Florida Theatre Conference, the Florida Vocal Association Summer Conference and at the International Thespian Conference in Lincoln (NE). In May he joined Kimberly de Acha and nine musical theatre students for two readings of Jazz Age, a new musical written and directed by Desmond Child and Davitt Sigerson. The same month Alt was honored with the Board Member of the Year Award from the Dade Cultural Alliance, in recognition of his commitment to arts advocacy.

Ross Barentyne-Truluck appeared as guest artist with Florida Singing Sons Boy Choir, Second Generation Singers, Parker Playhouse, Palm Beach Country Club, Second Presbyterian Church, and the Broward Center for the Performing Arts. He was the musical director and accompanist for Amahl and the Night Visitors at Episcopal Church in Fort Lauderdale and accompanied the UM Opera Gala.

Kimberly Daniel de Acha received two Carbonell and two Curtain Up award nominations for her roles in The Credeaux Canvas, by Keith Bunin, and the world premiere of Michael McKeever’s A Town Like Irvine. She also performed in the world premiere readings of Jason Loves Alice, The Russian Boy, and The Washington-Sarajevo Talks. De Acha directed staged readings of The Street of Useful Things and Heavenly Hands. For UM’s Honor Choir she presented a workshop, “Facilitating Better English Diction in the Classroom,” and for the NATS Winter Workshop, “Recent Repertory, Composers, Technology, and its Impact on Broadway.” In May de Acha, in the role of Gertrude Stein, joined colleague David Alt and a group of UM musical theatre students in a filmed reading of the Desmond Child/Davitt Sigerson musical, Jazz Age. This summer she directed the Performing Arts Institute, a musical theatre program for high school students. De Acha was also the vocal coach for the New Theatre Shakespeare Project productions of King Lear and Midsummer Night’s Dream.

Nicholas DeCarbo is chair of the Professional Resources Committee of the Florida Bandmasters Association (FBA) and is a member of the FBA Clinic Committee. He is the music director and coordinator for the South Florida Honor Band Festival, now in its 24th year; and continues active clinic work in Florida, preparing young musicians for festival evaluations. DeCarbo attended several conferences this year, including the National Association of Schools of Music conference in Seattle; the National Association of Music Educators (MENC) national conference in Minneapolis; the annual in-service conference for the Florida Music Education Association, Tampa; an Arts Education Visioning Workshop sponsored by Florida Higher Education Arts Network held in Miami in May; and the Florida Bandmasters Association Summer Conference in Orlando, in July.

Shannon de l’Etoile presented Graduate Curricula in Music Therapy at the annual meeting of the American Music Therapy Association, held in Minneapolis and Neurologic Music Therapy for Sensorimotor Dysfunction at the Southeastern Region Annual Music Therapy Conference held in Chattanooga. De l’Etoile also spoke on music therapy for the Institute for Retired Professionals through UM’s School of Education, and at the opening session of the June 2004 International Convention of the Early Childhood Music and Movement Association. She was inducted as a Fellow of the internationally-recognized Robert F. Unkefer Academy for Neurologic Music Therapy (NMT), making UM’s music therapy program part of a select consortium of schools that offer NMT training.

This year de l’Etoile co-authored a chapter on “Kindermusik® and Music Therapy,” for the new textbook, Introduction to Approaches in Music Therapy. She published research reviews regarding music perception and responses to musical stimuli by children with autism.

De l’Etoile received both a Max Orovitz Summer Award in the Arts and Humanities and a General Research Support Award from the Research Council. Her project, “Infant Engagement Cues During Maternal Interactions Involving Music: Physical, Cognitive, Vocal and Facial,” compares infant responses to musical and non-musical maternal interactions.
Fred DeSena served as host for the Fifth Annual National Student Conference of the Society of Composers, Inc. held at UM in November.

Joy Galliford was featured on Univision Channel 23 and Channel 7 discussing the merits of early childhood music education. Galliford was concert host for ‘Mozart for Children’, part of the Mainly Mozart Festival X. Galliford also made presentations at the Early Childhood Music and Movement Association Regional Convention in Atlanta, Florida Music Educators Association Conference in Tampa, and the ECMWA International Convention in Asheville. She oversees the UM MusicTime Program.

Gary Green and the University of Miami Wind Ensemble will release their fifth CD, Concertos. This year Green was the guest conductor for the Texas Christian University Summer Band Camp, Vandercook College of Music Midwest Band Clinic, the University of Texas at Arlington, Cobb County Honor Band, Kansas All-State Band, New York School Band Director’s Honor Band, South Carolina All-State Band, Connecticut All-State Band, and Palm Beach Honor Band.

Ross Harbaugh was invited to lecture and perform in March at the Bachannalia cello conference held each year at the Cincinnati College Conservatory. He performed in two concerts along with the cello professors from Cleveland Institute, Eastman School of Music, Stoney Brook, and Cincinnati. Harbaugh presented two workshops entitled “Tai Chi and Cello,” a concept he developed and published in The Strad Magazine (England) in the September and October 2004 issues. He repeated the workshop at the ASTA conference in Dallas, Texas in March with colleague Pamela McConnell and re-titled it “Tai Chi for Strings.” Harbaugh has been invited to present the workshop at Eastman and Cleveland Institute.

William Hipp will serve another three-year term as NASM’s Immediate Past President. He chaired a NASM visiting team at one institution and served as program reviewer at another. Last October he and his wife, Frankie, were inducted into the University of Miami’s Society of Grand Founders. In February he was presented with the Amicus Poloniae award from the Ambassador of the Republic of Poland. This May, Hipp presided over a state-wide workshop on visioning arts education in Florida. The workshop was sponsored by the Florida Higher Education Arts Network, of which he currently serves as President.

Joyce Jordan was a presenter at the American Orff-Schulwerk national conference held in Louisville in November. Her session was entitled “Classical and Multicultural Music for the Preschool Listener.” She was also a co-panelist for a session entitled “Starting and Building Pre-School Programs” at the National Association of Schools of Music annual meeting in Seattle. Jordan continues to write quarterly research reviews for Early Childhood Connections, a journal devoted to advocacy for music and movement for children, from birth to 8 years old. Jordan also wrote “Early Childhood Music Education: Reflections on the Past and Projections for the Future,” for the 10th anniversary of Early Childhood Connections.

Jordan attended the National Association of Music Educators (MENC) conference in Minneapolis; an early childhood pedagogy conference in Greensboro; the annual in-service conference for the Florida Music Education Association, Tampa; and an Arts Education Visioning Workshop sponsored by the Florida Higher Education Arts Network. She received two grants this year to support research in early childhood music – The Knight Foundation Programmatic Endowment ($10,000) in support of curriculum development to serve as a resource for preschool teachers for music instruction in pre-kindergarten classes; and the Kenan Foundation ($25,000) for an exploratory pilot study at the Debbie Institute-Mailman Center for professional development of a team of teachers and costs associated with the publication of a teacher’s manual and recordings for preschool music instruction.

Dennis Kam had the premiere performance of Miami Mix II for chamber ensemble at Cleveland State University, part of the “Music That Dares to Explore” series. It was commissioned and performed by the Cleveland Chamber Symphony. In October Kam’s Trio for violin, cello and piano was performed by the Ibis Trio at the College Music Society National Conference in Miami, and Simply for clarinet choir performed by the University of Miami Clarinet Choir. Lokahi for violin, cello and piano was performed by the Ibis Trio at the Society of Composers Conference held at Stetson University in November. His Alleluia for flute choir was performed by the University of Miami Flute Choir in December and again in January at the Florida Flute Fair in Daytona.
Gary Keller completed a year-long sabbatical leave during which he performed and lectured at institutions in five states and four foreign countries, including the Royal Conservatory of Music in The Hague, Guildhall School of Music and Drama in London, and Sibelius Academy in Helsinki. Keller will be performing John Williams’ Escapades for Alto Saxophone and Orchestra this fall with the University of Miami Symphony Orchestra.

Lee Kjelson reassumed artistic leadership of the Civic Chorale of Greater Miami this year while Robert Gower was on sabbatical leave in Hawaii. The Chorale, which Kjelson established in 1969 as an ensemble, is composed of UM music students and community singers.

Larry Lapin was invited to teach at the International Association of Jazz Educators Teacher Training Institute in Atlanta. He presented three sessions, “The Elements of Jazz Vocal Performance,” “Jazz Vocal Ensemble Techniques,” and “Arrangements While You Wait.”

Rachel Lebon released a CD entitled Voicings, which includes three arrangements with the University of Miami’s Concert Jazz Band, four duo selections with pianist Phillip Strange, and three songs with a rhythm section, including two original compositions. Lebon appeared as guest soloist with the Greater Miami Symphonic Band for the Doral Open, the Air Force Tops in Blue in San Antonio, and the Civic Chorale of Greater Miami. She also served as a preliminary adjudicator for the National Association for Advancement in the Arts.

Colby Leider is chairing the 30th annual International Computer Music Conference (www.icmc2004.org), to be held at the Frost School of Music November 1-6, 2004. The conference will feature seventeen concerts, workshops, demonstrations, posters, paper sessions and many special events. This summer McGraw-Hill released Leider’s first book, The Digital Audio Workstation Complete.

Gary Lindsay was involved with a number of performances with the Miami Saxophone Quartet and played on the jazz forum featuring music of Brazil. He also performed in the pit orchestra for Thoroughly Modern Millie this season. This summer Lindsay completed a book, Jazz Arranging Techniques, that includes a CD with recordings and additional scores.

Diane Farrell Mauch was awarded a scholarship to study at the Cambridge University International Summer School in England. She devised a project involving the study of Benjamin Britten songs, from the point of view of the poetry. Mauch will present an overview of the summer experience in a recital in September. She recently served as chair for the annual scholarship auditions and the honors recital for the Miami Music Teachers Association.

Ron Miller performed with his Sextet in New York at the East Village jazz club. The group, which includes Gary Keller, UM alumni Jason Carder, Julia Dollison, Matt Hankle, and Bill Pace, performed Miller’s compositions for 100 UM alumni. He also presented a performance and clinic at the University of New Orleans. Miller developed a cross-platform ear training program in HTML format. It is accessible from his site, http://jazzcomp.com/.

John Olah received an Alumni Achievement award from Baldwin Wallace Conservatory. He is a 1979 graduate of the Conservatory.

Ney Rosauro will perform his Marimba Concerto #2 in China with the Beijing Symphony Orchestra. The concert will be broadcast nationwide by Chinese national television for an audience of approximately one billion people.

Jo-Michael Scheibe continues to conduct for the Coral Gables Congregational Church. Scheibe was recently appointed music and artist director for the newly formed Master Chorale. He presented a workshop in Sante Fe on perspectives of choral music, and conducted the Colorado All-State Chorus. Scheibe continues his work as associate editor for Walton Music and as music editor for Colla Voce.

John Van der Slice had performances of Variations for Flute and Piano at the University of Missouri at Kansas City and Dance (Hommage to Milhaud) for four harps at the University of Miami. In addition, Solo for Piano was premiered at Princeton in July by Miroslav Decic and Mallets of Forethought, for ten percussionists, at the University of Miami.

Valerie Von Pechy Whitcup performed her composition for flute, harp, viola and soprano/narrator, The Song of Issaqueena, for students in Oconee, (SC). The work tells the story of a local Native American heroine, Issaqueena, who warned the first settlers of an imminent Cherokee attack. This summer Whitcup toured with the Moscow Chamber Orchestra and was a soloist, performing Ravel’s Introduction and Allegro at the Highlands (NC) Chamber Music Festival.

Russell Young accompanied several concerts with the Miami Chamber Ensemble, with UM faculty artists Jana Young, soprano and Margaret Donaghue, clarinet, throughout South Florida and Alabama. The group made their Weill Hall debut this past November in New York City at a concert honoring the 80th birthday of composer Ned Rorem. The Miami Chamber Ensemble performed his rarely heard Ariel: Five Poems of Sylvia Plath, for soprano, clarinet, and piano. The ensemble performed at the National Association of Teachers of Singing national convention in New Orleans in July. In March Young conducted the UM opera production of Gilbert and Sullivan’s The Mikado. He also appeared with international opera star Helen Donath in a concert honoring longtime Miami Herald music critic James Raos.

Nancy Zavac gave a presentation on the Larry Taylor-Billy Matthews Musical Theatre Archive at the Annual Music Library Association meeting in Arlington in February. Her talk was part of a session jointly sponsored by the Small Academic Libraries Roundtable and the Musical Theatre Roundtable. The second presenter was Raymond A. White, Senior Music Specialist from The Library of Congress Music Division and curator of the George and Ira Gershwin Collection. Zavac gave a description of the collection and its history. The presentation can be found at www.library.miami.edu/music/mustheat.html. There are links to three separate databases for searching playbills, scores, or recordings in the collection.

SPECIAL ANNUAL GIFTS

Special annual contributions are very important, in that they can be directed to the areas of greatest need. Examples include special projects, support for faculty research, and program enrichment. Special gifts are established for $50,000 and above. We gratefully acknowledge our Special Annual Gift Donors:

- Dr. M. Lee Pearce Salzburg Summer Program
- Dr. M Lee Pearce White Nights Festival
- The Stamps Family Distinguished Visitors Series
Music Education

The music education program hosted its 23rd annual Music Education Day in January for Florida music teachers and college students. Sam Reese of the University of Illinois, was the keynote speaker; his presentation was entitled “Music Technology and Schools: Technique or Transformation?” Reese’s presentation was relayed via Internet 2 technology from New York University. This use of Internet 2 was the first event of its kind to take place in the Frost School of Music. The session allowed the speaker to interact and respond to members of the audience. Other guest clinicians were Shelby Chipman, associate director of bands at Florida A & M University; Russell Robinson, professor of choral music/music education, University of Florida; and Carolyn Minear, coordinator of Visual/Performing Arts in Orange County Public Schools. Charlene Dell, director of music and strings, University of Oklahoma, presented a session on learning to improvise through fiddling, also via Internet 2 from the University of Oklahoma. Dell worked with a small demonstration ensemble from Westminster Christian School in Miami, directed by Lee Stone. Interactions between Dell and the students were fascinating with only a slight time delay. UM faculty Fred DeSena, Kenon Renfrow, and Glenn Basham served as clinicians for this year’s event.

In February, the music education and band programs jointly hosted the 22nd annual South Florida Honor Band Festival. The guest conductor was Stephen Gage, instrumental music coordinator, professor of music, and director of bands at Youngstown State University. Faculty conductors were Nicholas DeCarbo, associate dean and professor of music education, Gary Green, professor and chair of instrumental performance and director of bands at the University of Miami, and Michael Dressman, associate director of bands and director of the UM Band of the Hour.

The music education program produced a newsletter, MED Connects, to keep music education alumni informed about program developments, graduate and undergraduate initiatives, and news about current faculty and students. Issue No. 1 was sent in the fall and issue No. 2 was sent in late spring. If you are a music education graduate and did not receive these issues, please send your name, address, telephone number, and email address to s.schwartz@umiami.edu.

UM MusicTime, an outreach early childhood music enrichment program for children, birth to 8 years old, continues to increase in enrollment. This past year it served approximately 1450 children and parents. We were able to expand classes to Ft. Lauderdale at All Saint’s Episcopal Church and to Hollywood at the Art and Culture Center. Several teachers in the program attended the national conference of the Early Childhood Music and Movement Association in Asheville (NC). Attending were Joyce Jordan, Mary Louise Wilson, Joy Galliford, Ysomar Granados, and Rosa Douglass.
Music Therapy Program

The music therapy program continues to offer one of the most distinctive educational experiences in the nation. Both the undergraduate and graduate programs are built upon the educational and clinical paradigm known as Neurologic Music Therapy (NMT). The medical community is increasingly recognizing this scientific model. Due to the extensive training required of music therapy faculty to implement and teach the NMT model, it is currently only available at five universities nationwide.

The music therapy program continues to establish and maintain mutually beneficial relationships with several community health care and educational facilities. This year, the following local agencies provided students with clinical experience and in return, received therapeutic services for their clientele: Creative Children Therapy, The Learning Experience, Miami Jewish Home and Hospital for the Aged at Douglas Gardens, Miami Heights Elementary School, Perdue Medical Center, the Veteran’s Affairs Medical Center of Miami, Claridge House Nursing Home, plus the Children’s Clinical Immunology Unit and Holtz Center for Women and Children, both located at Jackson Memorial Hospital. Several music therapy students are benefiting from a local resource, Claridge House Nursing Home of Miami, while completing their clinical training. In this setting, students work with older adults who are experiencing the normal effects of aging, as well as older adults with neurological disorders and medical conditions.

Instrumental Performance

In March, Ross Harbaugh and Pamela McConnell presented “Tai-chi for Strings” at the American String Teachers’ National Conference in Dallas, Texas. This is an expanded version of Harbaugh’s “Tai-chi for Cellists,” an article published in the September and October 2003 issues of STRAD Magazine. The March workshop for teachers drew parallels between motions of string playing and those used in this gentle martial art.

Professors Glenn Basham (violin) and Kevin Mauldin (double bass) gave a jazz improvisation workshop as part of Extraordinary Strings, a high school chamber music retreat for Florida string students. The programming included chamber music coaching, an orchestra workshop, and a final concert.

The Bergonzi Quartet performed two concerts in New York City at Carnegie Hall, Weill Auditorium in November 2003. The first program featured guest pianist and UM colleague, Tian Ying in the Dvorak Quintet for Piano and String Quartet. The Bergonzi also played Mendelssohn’s Opus 13 and Quartet #1 of Alberto Ginastera. The next night was an all-Ned Rorem concert in honor of the composer’s 80th birthday. The program opened with his Quartet #2. Colleagues Christine Nield, Jana and Russell Young, Margaret Donaghue, and Tian Ying also played on the varied program that included works from throughout Rorem’s compositional periods.
The UM Symphony Orchestra performed for opening and closing nights of Festival Miami this fall. Featured soloists included soprano Sandra Lopez, pianist Tian Ying, and Pipa performer Zhang Hongyan. In addition to regular performances, the UMSO also presented a series of children’s concerts in November. Repertoire this season included works such as Mussorgsky/Ravel’s Pictures at an Exhibition, Berlioz Symphony Fantastique, Shostakovich Symphony No. 10, and Mahler’s Symphony No. 5. Albany Records will release the UMSO’s seventh CD, featuring the opera Paolo e Freancesca by Mancinelli, this fall.

In April, the University of Miami Harp Ensemble performed a premiere of John Van der Slice’s Dance (Homage to Milhaud) for four harps, which is dedicated to Valerie Von Pechy Whitcup. The harp ensemble includes Lee-Fei Chen, Kristi Rostad, Anais Mailloux, Heather Johnson, Kelly London Jackson, Amy Hanlon, and Keely Roth.

Music Engineering

In April, Euphonix donated a modular update for the Euphonix System 5 mixing console housed in the Weeks Recording Studio. The new Film and Post Panel significantly upgrades the console, allowing more efficient monitoring and panning of dialogue, effects, and music - the three basic elements of a motion picture soundtrack. The module, valued at over $40,000, was donated at the request of Myron Nettinga, a graduate of the Music Engineering program. Myron works as a film sound mixing engineer, whose recent film credits include Kill Bill Vol. 1 and 2, Confessions of a Dangerous Mind, Matchstick Men, and Collateral. In 2002, he won an Oscar for the soundtrack of Black Hawk Down. To recognize his work, Euphonix donated the Film and Post module to the Frost School.
Music Business and Entertainment Industries

‘Cane Records, the independent record label staffed by Music Business and Entertainment Industries majors, recently released its 14th and 15th music products. Eye of the Storm is the latest CD recorded by the Band of the Hour, and marks ‘Cane Records first collaboration with the Band of the Hour. Plans are to market the CD during Orange Bowl games and directly to alumni via the Internet. ‘Cane Records also released a debut CD titled * Things Considered” by the group Unison. Both recordings can be purchased at www.CaneRecords.com. Category 5, the independent publishing company staffed by students in the graduate MBEI program, has expanded the catalog and is focusing efforts on the film and TV marketplace.

The undergraduate and graduate MBEI programs have been modified to reflect industry changes and job opportunities. It will have more of a legal and financial focus, and include courses in music industry contract law, licensing, and royalty procedures.

Studio Music and Jazz

Studio Music and Jazz students Dan Kinzelman, Aaron Mitter, Paul Roth, Brian Robertson, and Austin McMahon (The Music Lover’s Club) were awarded an invitation to attend the Carnegie Hall Professional Workshop Series in New York City. The event, sponsored by the Weill Music Institute, featured clinicians David Liebman, Rufus Ried, Terrell Stafford, and Justin DiCioccio. Three groups, selected from dozens of entries, were awarded an all expense paid trip to New York to participate in coached rehearsals and perform in Zankel Hall.

Featured performers with the Concert Jazz Band this past academic year included, Dave Liebman, Jim McNeely, Ira Sullivan, Bob Mintzer, and Jo Lovano. Clinicians who appeared in MSJ Forum this year included Michael Stephans and John Riley.

Theory and Composition

The Music Theory and Composition Department was extremely active during the 2003-04 academic year. In addition to works of student and faculty performed at a variety of concerts and settings, more than 30 works by visiting composers were performed at national conferences held in Miami. The Department’s contemporary music ensemble, Other Music Ensemble, under the direction of Dennis Kam, performed works at the College Music Society annual meeting, which was held in October at the Hotel Inter-Continental in Miami. The UM student chapter of the Society of Composers, Inc., hosted the national student SCI conference on campus in November. The Frost School’s SCI chapter did an outstanding job managing the conference, with special mention to the student leadership of Jennifer Post and Joy Wilson, and to faculty advisor Fred de Sena.

Media Writing and Production (MWP) program director Raul Murciano, Jr., took the initiative this past semester and joined forces with the School of Communication to establish a connection between these sister disciplines. Rather than just offering occasional combined forums or workshops, the idea was to afford interested students the opportunity to work together on a myriad of creative projects linking film and music. Thanks in great part to the cooperation of School of Communications professors, film students were teamed with aspiring film music composers to create original, tailor-made scores for their film projects. While this is only the first collaboration between these programs, students have been quick to remark on the success and overall value of the experience, as well as on the tangible boost in the quality of their respective projects — certainly additional justification to continue promoting and nurturing this exciting, new interdisciplinary venture.
Choral Activities

The University Chorale presented two performances of African Sanctus by David Fanshawe during 2003 Festival Miami. The Miami Children’s Chorus and members of the UM Symphony Orchestra joined the 60 voices of the Chorale under the baton of Jo-Michael Scheibe. The Chorale continued their busy concert schedule throughout the year, culminating with a performance of John Corigliano’s Fern Hill, again with the UM Symphony Orchestra, Collegium Musicum, and the Advanced Women’s Chorale.

Choral Studies’ newest ensemble, Advanced Women’s Chorale, made its debut under the leadership of graduate students Matthew Tresler and Suzanne Hatcher, in a world premiere of Panis Angelicus by Florida composer Jeremy Silverman. The 24 women joined forces with the Men’s Chorale, conducted by graduate students Gary Keating and Sam Spears, for a three-day tour of Florida.

Collegium Musicum, under the direction of Donald Oglesby, offered two new and unique musical experiences to the public through their Prelude to Evensong concerts. These brief concerts, performed before Evensong services at the Chapel of the Venerable Bede, were met with much acclaim.

Chamber Singers made another appearance at Festival Miami, this time under the leadership of Jo-Michael Scheibe, singing From an Unknown Past by Ned Rorem as part of the Rorem Birthday Celebration. In addition to the annual Holiday Dinner, members sang concerts under the batons of Suzanne Hatcher, Sam Spears, Gary Keating, Ryan Holder, and James Bass. Now in its 11th year, the Annual Holiday Dinner moved to its new location at the Parrot Jungle on Watson Island, and had a record number of patrons. The 250 members of the Choral Union combined with the University Brass Choir to perform the premiere of The Bells of Christmas, written by David Childs in honor of Dean Hipp.

The Civic Chorale of Greater Miami presented a concert featuring 25 choral music alumni who returned to campus for a day of rehearsals and social activities, which culminated in an evening concert. Guest conductors were alumni Russell Robinson and Terence Clayton. Featured alumni soloists were Raymond Watson, Cantor Rachelle Nelson, David Ramcharitar, and Rachel Lebon. Alumni choir participants included Patrick Matthews, Elsa Wagner, Anne Nagle, Tiberio Faria, David Delaney, Nancy Goodall, Jule Paulk, Linda Mann, Leo Walz, Ann Ferguson, Bill Turner, Suzanne Roberts, Rachel Lebon, Jeanine Frebe, Anabel Parra Butler, Russell Robinius, Suzi Diaz, Candace Wicke, Terence Clayton, Rachelle Nelson, Penny Steyer, Jeannie Weiss, Ken Boos, and Beverly Coulter. In addition to Kjelson, administrative and musical leadership of the Chorale included Jane Spinney (Executive Director), Fred deSena, Scott Baker, and Phee Price-Moore. Student leadership was provided by Steve Armstrong and Tracy Burklund.

Musical Theatre

Musical theatre students were seen onstage this past year in Jerry Herman Ring Theatre productions of Anton In Show Business, The Cherry Orchard, Noises Off, and the musicals Broadway Broads, Sweet Charity, and Violet, directed by 2004 Tony Award nominee Michael McElroy. Students also performed in Black Box productions of The Last Five Years; I Love You, You’re Perfect, Now Change; the Complete Works of Shakespeare (abridged), Animals and Plants, Iphigenia and Other Daughters; Steel Magnolias, Latin Anonymous, Medal of Honor Rag; This Is Our Youth; Graceland; and Far Away.

Faculty members Kimberly deAcha and David Alt joined nine students in May for two performances of a reading of Jazz Age, a new musical by producer/songwriter Desmond Childs and Davitt Sigerson.

In October, Festival Miami, in conjunction with ASCAP, presented Broadway veterans Liz Callaway and Jason Graae in concert with Alex Rybeck at the piano. All three offered master classes to the musical theatre students. Other guests who presented master classes and lectures include cabaret director and songwriter Barry Kleinbort; Dave Clemmons of Dave Clemmons Casting; Broadway and film actress Sarah Knowlton; Broadway conductor Donald Pippin; and Adam Epstein, Broadway producer and Tony award winner for Hairspray.

Vocal Performance
Opera Theatre

The 2003-2004 season for the UM Opera Theater program began with a scenes program featuring operas of composers Douglas Moore and Benjamin Britten. In March, four performances were given of Gilbert and Sullivan’s The Mikado. This was the first time the operetta was presented at UM and was easily one of the most successful productions mounted. It was conceived, directed, and choreographed by voice-faculty member Richard Kosowski. Russell Young conducted the University of Miami Symphony Orchestra. For the last production of the school year, Viva Italia - Opera Gala 2004, an evening celebrating the music of Italian opera, was presented. Returning alumni artists were Cheri Rose Katz, Nicholas Perna, Dara Rahming, Mandy Spivak, and Irene Patti Swartz-Hammond. Special guests included Mary Beth Kosowski and Michael O’Hearn.

School Hosts International Computer Music Conference 2004

Along with opera, jazz, and orchestral concerts on the schedule this fall, the Frost School will host a week-long festival and conference featuring nearly 20 full-length computer music concerts. The concerts – showcasing some of the most cutting-edge applications of computers in the composition, production and performance of music– will be part of the 2004 International Computer Music Conference.

The Conference, known as ICMC 2004, will be held November 1-6 throughout the Frost School complex. As hosts of the 30th annual event, the School will present multiple daily concerts in Gusman Hall; plus videos, audio installations and shorter musical interludes on campus and at other select venues in Coral Gables. ICMC 2004 will also feature academic panels and workshops that explore the state of the art in music and technology.

In the last three decades prestigious music and academic institutions in cities such as Paris, Venice, Hong Kong, Beijing, Berlin, and Singapore have hosted the International Computer Music Conference. The University of Miami is proud to be the first U.S. host of the event in six years.

In order to be considered for concert scheduling, composers submitted their original audio and video works for evaluation by an academic jury composed of faculty from six universities and led by Colby Leider, Chair of ICMC 2004 and an assistant professor of Music Engineering. The Conference office, located in Gusman Hall, received 370 total musical entries from 25 countries, 36 states and nearly 140 academic institutions from around the globe! For the academic panels approximately 200 papers and proposals were submitted, with each submission subjected to a rigorous peer-review process involving faculty and researchers from 35 educational institutions and technology companies.

Leider thinks ICMC 2004 will be rewarding not only for academics, students, and composers, but also for fans of electronic music and for those who want to know and see new musical trends. “One of the most remarkable aspects of the computer music community is the extent to which art and science commingle and inform each other,” Leider says. “Audio researchers compose new music and composers invent new audio synthesis methods – each camp supports what the other is doing. Aesthetic needs spur technological innovations, with this advanced technology quickly finding its way into new works of art. ICMC 2004 will serve as a great presentation tool and be one of the premier international expositions to showcase the confluence of computer technology and music.”

ICMC 2004 highlights the commitment the Frost School has to supporting emerging composers, the faculty, and new musical styles. For more information on the week-long Conference schedule of events, visit the Frost School website, www.music.miami.edu or the Conference’s website, www.icmc2004.org.

Jazz on the Green

The University of Miami Concert Jazz Band performed for about 300 Coral Gables residents and UM faculty, staff and students on the University Green in February. Attendees enjoyed great music and free hot-dogs, ice cream, popcorn, and sodas. The Office of Community Relations sponsored the concert.

Bergonzi Quartet and “Friends” at Carnegie Hall

Named for the illustrious violinmaker Carlo Bergonzi, UM’s faculty string quartet has generated enormous excitement around the globe for its superb blend of seasoned and sensitive virtuosi. In November the group teamed up with UM faculty artists Tian Ying (pianist), Christine Nield-Capote (flute), Margaret Donaghue (clarinet), Jana Young (soprano), and Russell Young (piano) for two performances at New York’s Weill Recital Hall at Carnegie Hall. The quartet, Glenn Basham (violin), Scott Flavin (violin), Pamela McConnell (viola) and Ross Harbaugh (cello) gave a repeat performance of their 2003 Festival Miami program of Mendelssohn, Ginastera, and Dvorak. The following evening Bergonzi performed at the Ned Rorem 80th Birthday Celebration concert.
The Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music is pleased to announce that Jim Papoulis (MM 1982), a successful composer, conductor, lyricist, and teacher, has been named its Distinguished Alumnus for 2004.

Jim’s career spans all musical genres and geographical borders. On the popular music side of his resume, you will see that he has worked with multi-platinum and Grammy® winning artists such as Tony Bennett, Natalie Cole, Huey Lewis, and Bette Midler. Just as important to Jim is the works he has composed and arranged for UNICEF—music that has been performed all over the world in such diverse locations at the Great Wall of China and London’s Royal Albert Hall. An in-demand orchestrator, Jim has worked with the Paris Opera, Dance Theatre of Harlem, Marvin Hamlisch, and the San Diego Pops. He also tours and records for Vital Records.

The Frost School congratulates Jim on his many music, education, and social contributions.
Javier Abreu (BM 1999) has been singing tenor roles with opera companies throughout the U.S., including the Juilliard Opera Center, the Pittsburgh Opera Center, the Shreveport Opera and the Amarillo Opera. He recently made his Alice Tully Hall debut in Petite Messe Solennele.

Valerie Accetta (‘96–97), appeared on the Otterbein College stage as Marian in The Music Man and taught at the Intensive Musical Theatre Camp at Columbus [Ohio] Children’s Theatre. She also gave a concert of Richard Rodgers’ music as part of the Dublin, Ohio concert series before moving to Greece to live with her husband.

Daniel Adams (MM 1981) is the author of “The Drum Set as a Solo Multiple Percussion Performance Medium,” an article in the spring 2004 Journal of the National Association of College Wind and Percussion Instructors. Dorn Publications, Inc. recently accepted Dr. Adams’ composition Guadalquivir for flute, harps, and viola. Adams is Professor of Music and Chair of the Faculty Assembly/Senate at Texas Southern University in Houston.

Sergio Alvares (DM 1996) is the Chair of Music Education at the Universidade Federal do Espírito Santo (UFES) in Brazil and has been nominated as Director, Southeast Region, for the Brazilian Association of Music Educators (Associação Brasileira de Educação Musical - ABEM). Dr. Alvares has lectured, conducted and performed at several events including the Orquestra Sinfônica do Estado de São Paulo (OSES), Circuito Cultural Banco do Brasil, X International Music Festival of Domingos Martins, Swanwick Music Workshop, Buffalo Suzuki Strings, the Broward Center for the Performing Arts and the Grapefruit Jazz Festival.

Randy Bobish (1990–1994) left the Broadway production of 42nd Street after two years to do Smokey Joe’s Cafe at the Arvada Center, outside of Denver. He is back on Broadway in the revival of Fiddler on the Roof.

Donna Burns (MM 1983) vice president at J. P. Morgan Chase, received their Outstanding Volunteer Award in recognition of her charitable activities. In 2003 Donna Lynn volunteered as the Financial Director for Broadway Mondays.

Oscar Bustillo (BM 1990) has been appointed assistant conductor for the Florida West Coast Symphony. His previous posts include assistant conductor of the Bridgeport Symphony Orchestra and the Norwalk Youth Symphony. Bustillo’s guest conducting engagements included The Kharkov Opera Theater (Ukraine), Fort Wayne Philharmonic, North Palm Beach Symphony Orchestra, and the Bozeman (Montana) Symphony.

Tim Cashion (BM 1987, MM 1989) has been on tour with some of the most popular recording artists of the last 20 years. Sigma Alpha Iota Holds Benefit Concert

In September, Sigma Alpha Iota’s Miami Alumnae Chapter sponsored a benefit concert at Clarke Recital Hall. Proceeds from the concert funded the chapter’s annual scholarships, given to students of the Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music. Performers included Sigma Alpha Iota members and patronesses. Dr. Rosalina Sackstein, a member of SAI for 40 years, performed works by Chopin and Ginastera. The second half of the program featured SAI patronesses Pamela McConnell, Margaret Donaghue, and Marina Berberian, who performed works by Mozart. This year’s scholarship recipients were Diana Limeres, who received the $500 Bertha Foster Scholarship, and Kerry McDonough, who received the $300 Mary Davies Award.

In Memoriam...

The Frost School was saddened to learn about the passing of Kathleen Mary Sullivan (BM 1987), a bright, talented musician who loved the University and her undergraduate experiences here. After graduation, Kathleen returned home to New York and taught choir and jazz vocal ensemble at Bellmore Merrick High School in Long Island. In addition to teaching in the New York public school system she found time to earn a Master of Arts degree from Queens College, compose, perform, and arrange music, and teach privately. Kathleen was a gifted mezzo-soprano whose talent, not to mention her warmth and generosity of spirit, will be missed by all who knew her.
Sunset Celebration 2004

The Frost School of Music held its annual gala, the Sunset Celebration, on April 18, 2004. The Sunset Gala began as a way to recognize those whose outstanding generosity helps build and sustain the Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music. Each year all donors – individual, corporate, and foundation – who have made cumulative gifts of $2,500 and above to the Frost School are invited to this special evening.

For the first time the Sunset Celebration was held at the Villa Woodbine, a beautiful estate located on a coral rock bluff overlooking Coconut Grove. Performances were given by Misha Dacic, piano, and Alexandra Jackson, jazz vocalist. The elegant, old-Florida setting was a match for the sterling performances by these two outstanding students.
Here is a look at some of the activities of current Frost School students

The Ibis Trio

The Ibis Trio received the Artist Fellowship for the 2004 Hampden-Sydney Music Festival. The Trio – Biljana Milovanovic, piano, Marie-Elaine Gagnon, cello, and Christopher Graham, clarinet – are Frost School graduate students. In addition to performing with many stellar artists at the Hampden-Sydney Music Festival, the Ibis Trio toured extensively throughout Eastern Europe this summer, giving performances in Romania, Bulgaria, Serbia, and Russia.

The Ibis Trio Marie-Elaine Gagnon, Biljana Milovanovic and Christopher Graham
UM Frost School students are members of an award-winning vocal performance group, “Nothing But Treble,” Sweet Adelines Quartet. In this group, Caitlyn Willis (bass) and Colby Vann (baritone), music therapy majors, are joined by music education major Sarah Pachter (tenor) and Miami-Dade Community College vocal jazz student, Alessandria Pita (lead). Having placed in a regional competition, these vocal divas competed against 20 other quartets in the International Rising Star Competition for young women Sweet Adeline quartets taking place in Greenville (SC) in July.

In April, the following students and faculty were elected to the Beta Beta chapter of Pi Kappa Lambda National Music Honor Society:

The Friends of Music is the independent fundraising organization of The Frost School. Getting together several times each semester for elegant dinners or cocktails at member’s homes, the Friends raise money for student scholarships and increase awareness of the School’s excellent musical contributions to the South Florida cultural calendar. Often their events feature performances by the School’s best artists – with all net proceeds going to deserving students.

The Friends of Music had their most successful fundraising year in 2003-04, donating over $22,000 to the Frost School. The events calendar kicked off with the new student and parent breakfast in August, held annually in the UM Convocation Center. In September the Friends hosted Dean Hipp’s Festival Miami reception for the UM Citizen’s Board. Fall semester events also included an evening at the home of Professor David Alt, who hosted a special musical theatre program for Friends of Music members.

This spring was filled with special music presentations and parties. In January the Friends held an opera Musicale in member Gita Gamble's art-filled home. Surrounded by waterfalls and lush foliage, Professor Esther Jane Hardenbergh sang with students Carolina Castells, Misty Bermudez and Kathy Kozak.

In January the Friends also held their Merry-Go-Round Dinner. It was an evening of food and entertainment, with music by some of the Frost School’s most gifted students: cello and piano duo Marie-Elaine Gagnon and Biljana Milovanovic played at Patricia Russell’s home and, after the sumptuous dinner, pianist Grigorios Zamparas presented a wonderful program at member Renate Ryan’s home. In March, with marimba music performed by student Wan Chun Liao, the Friends enjoyed a sunset buffet at the home of Ray Drakoff and Ted Singer.

Membership in the Friends of Music means notice of special presentations held at the Frost School. An opportunity such as attending a master class given by legendary mezzo-soprano Marilyn Horne, is just such an event. When Ms. Horne performed at Gusman Hall on May 8th, she scheduled a master class for selected voice students. The Friends enjoyed special seating and a reception with the students and Ms. Horne.

The 2004-05 Friends of Music calendar is filled with events for music lovers and supporters of The Frost School. To join the Friends of Music and take part in their members-only events, call Julie Williamson, 2004-05 President of the Friends of Music, at (305) 374-5600 or email Julie at jawilliamson@akerman.com.

In Memoriam...

The Frost School of Music joins the Friends of Music in mourning the death of Kenneth G. Neumann. The founder of Friends of Music and a Board Member until his untimely death, Ken was active in numerous civic and professional organizations. Dean Hipp and the faculty and staff of the Frost School of Music extend their deepest sympathies to Ken’s wife of nearly 40 years, Adele Harrison Neumann.

For those wishing to honor Ken’s memory, donations can be made to:
The Friends of Music Scholarship Fund
6200 San Amaro Drive
Coral Gables, FL 33146-1514
In grateful recognition to those whose thoughtful generosity has helped to build and sustain the Frost School of Music with gifts received between June 1, 2003 and May 20, 2004.

Endowed Chair

An Endowed Chair provides the resources to support a distinguished faculty member’s work, reward academic achievement, and enable the professor to pursue new areas of research, creativity, or performance, as well as explore innovative teaching methods. Endowed Chairs are magnets for attracting the most prominent artists and scholars to the faculty of the Frost School of Music. Being appointed to an Endowed Chair is one of the highest honors a faculty member can achieve. Endowed Chairs are established for $2 million and above. We gratefully acknowledge our Endowed Chair Donor.

Patricia L. Frost Professorship in Music

Recognition of Endowed Scholarship Donors

Scholarships are essential for attracting and retaining the best students. Endowed scholarships are the most valuable as they last in perpetuity, helping Frost School of Music students for generations to come. An endowed fund forever recognizes the donor’s generosity and commitment to the Frost School of Music. Endowed scholarships are established for $100,000 and above. We gratefully acknowledge our Endowed Scholarship Donors.

Annual scholarship

Scholarships honoring or memorializing individuals or groups provide an essential source of financial support for the School of Music. Annual Scholarships are established on a yearly basis in which funds are completely dispersed. Gifts of $3,000 and above can be used to create a scholarship in your name. We gratefully acknowledge our Annual Scholarship Donors.

Heritage Society

Donors who establish bequests and life insurance policies or make other irrevocable planned gifts to benefit the University of Miami Frost School of Music are honored in the Heritage Society. Such gifts demonstrate the donor’s recognition of the importance of securing the future of higher education and indicate confidence in the Frost School of Music’s faculty and programs. We gratefully acknowledge our Heritage Society Members.

Program Endowments

Endowments ensure that the School’s academic programs have the resources needed to enhance ongoing activities and can take advantage of new opportunities. For example, endowment income can be used to engage composers, guest artists, and scholars; to fund major national or international appearances by performing groups; and to assist in the purchase of specialized instruments and equipment. Programmatic endowments are established for $50,000 and above. We gratefully acknowledge our Program Endowed Donors.

Gift-In-Kind - An Alternative Donor Option

“Gift-In-Kind” donations are extraordinarily valuable gifts to the School of Music. These gifts range from providing services, instruments, equipment, and hotel rooms, to furnishing airline tickets. Without this kind of support, many projects at the Frost School would simply not be possible. The School is pleased to recognize the following Gift-In-Kind donations made from June 1, 2003 to May 16, 2004.

Gusman Society - $500,000 and above
- National Piano Center - Pianos

Dorian Society - $100,000 and above
